

ANTONELLI COLLEGE

Justin K. Hite
Graphic Design

I have always been an artist which is why I enrolled in graphic design at Antonelli College. As an independent artist, I wanted to find a school that would groom me as a designer and a professional while mirroring my style as an artist.

As a student, I tried to stay as involved as possible with studying and extracurricular activities. I was very proactive and welcomed every opportunity to be connected with graphic design and would recommend for others to do the same. I was the President of the Graphic Arts Design Club and was on the Director's List and the Dean's List. I was also given the opportunity to give a commencement speech at graduation.

Since graduating, I started my own company, J:10 Studios which specializes in logos, brand identity and promotional design.

School doesn't make you who you are. Your friends, clothes, and favorite movie won't define you either. Your actions and work will help you find your character. Make yourself!
