

ANTONELLI COLLEGE

Doug Pitts Photography

I was working dead end jobs and not making much money or having a positive outlook on life until I met an Antonelli College instructor and began talking about the college. I received my first camera at the age of sixteen and always wanted to be a photographer.

When I came to visit, I met some students and instructors and liked what they had to say. I like the way Antonelli was set up versus a four year university. I wanted to get through school and start working. At Antonelli College everyone was very helpful and knowledgeable. The class sizes are small with one-on-one instruction. It is very hands on and I had a camera in my hand every day.

Since graduation, I started my own company working full time as a photographer. I photograph weddings and senior and family portraits. As my own boss, I get to make my schedule. This works well for spending time with my daughter. Photography has other awards too like travelling, meeting new people and getting out from behind a desk.

I love being a photographer and it is one of my greatest joys. When I see my diploma I know I have accomplished something else in life. I made a good choice coming to Antonelli; it was the perfect fit for me!
